

Succession. FA 1994 s130 96.—For the purposes of sections 94 and 95, where a disponent became beneficially entitled to any property on the death of another person the disponent is deemed to have been beneficially entitled to it from the date of that death.